

The Fourteenth Annual Best in Show is around the corner!

The Animal Foundation's Best in Show is our largest annual fundraising event featuring more than 50 shelter dogs and puppies looking for their forever home. These dogs will show attendees and potential adopters a variety of dogs in all shapes, sizes and breeds. They will also show everyone how amazing a shelter dog can be and the importance of adoption. YOU can play a key role by becoming a foster parent for our Best in Show participants!

If you would like to foster a 2017 Best in Show Dog, here are three things you should know:

Foster dogs MUST PARTICIPATE in Best in Show!

Best in Show participants are the property of The Animal Foundation and committed to being a part of the show. The Foster department will provide details about the opportunity to adopt your foster dog at the event, should you be interested. Adopting your foster dog prior to the event is not permitted.

Fostering a Best in Show dog means committing to a few extra duties...

At no or minimal cost to you, foster parents for Best in Show dogs are required to:

- Complete a Doggie Personality Survey no later than Monday, March 27th – tell us what makes your dog so wonderful!
- Schedule a photography session and transport your foster dog to and from appointment (photographer and available schedule will be provided at time of foster dog pick-up)
- Keep all appointments with The Animal Foundation clinic for vaccinations
- Have your Best in Show foster dog groomed no sooner than a week prior to the show on Sunday, April 23rd (participating groomers will be provided at time of foster dog pick-up)

All information above will be provided to you once your future foster dog becomes available.

On the day of Best in Show (Sunday, April 23, 2017), foster parents must bring their foster dog to the Thomas and Mack Center @ UNLV check-in point between 10am and 11am.

The Animal Foundation's foster coordinator will give you more details & directions as the event gets closer.
